

ONLINE LEARNING CASE STUDY

Holly Conway, Level 3 Early Years Educator Apprentice at Selby College discusses her experience with online learning...

How have you found online learning so far?

I have found online learning to be a really positive experience as I had already built up a good relationship with my assessor, Carol. She has been very supportive and really easy to get in touch with when I have had any questions whilst I have been carrying out my work online.

What support have you received from your tutors?

I have completed my reviews via telephone and received feedback on my coursework units online. Throughout the period, I have had a few questions about some of my coursework units and have been able to ask my assessor about these over email or via telephone. My assessor has been really accommodating and quick to respond to my queries.

What are the benefits of online learning?

I have enjoyed being able to learn in my own time and around my own schedule. This has given me a lot more flexibility with my learning.

Do you prefer face-to-face learning or online learning?

I like both. I have found adapting to online learning very easy however, I think part of this is because I had already met my tutor face-to-face and had the chance to build a good working relationship before moving to online learning.
